Vice Consul Suicides.

New York, Sept. 14.—Paul De Perrie, vice consul of France, committed suicide last night by inhaling gas. His rash act was caused by domestic unhappiness.

MAYFIELD NOTES.

An Incendiary Fire Occurred Yesterday.

Too Much Local Option Whiskey Occasions Two Fights.

A Mayfield dispatch to the Louisville Times: The dwelling of Mr. Ed Rohrer, in West Mayfield, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is about $1000, with no insurance. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, and officers are at work on the case. While the fire company was fighting the fire a box of cartridges and a pistol exploded, causing a general panic among the bystanders. After the fire had been subdued and the fire company called off, the two dwellings adjoining the one burned were found to be on fire, and the second alarm was given. There is some doubt as to whether the last fire was caused by the first. If the torch was applied by a hand he was certainly a bold one.

Dan McGuire and John D. McLain, brothers-in-law, living at Cuba, Ky., a small town twelve miles south of Mayfield, quarreled and then fought. McLain cut McGuire's throat from ear to ear. McGuire is in a dangerous condition, and will probably die from the wounds. Both men are prominent farmers of the section. They were intoxicated.

A fight occurred at Lynville, Ky., in which Marl Wilson and Curk Fields were the combatants. Fields struck Wilson with a buggy shaft and broke his arm. The men are well-to-do farmers. Too much booze caused the fight.

From the Mayfield Mirror. Jailor Sutherland discovered Saturday morning that his guests were preparing to take their leave from his hospitable roof; and he prevailed on them to remain yet a little longer. They readily consented to stay, provided he would put them in separate cells and keep them locked up day and night. The conditions were cheerfully granted by Mr. Sutherland, and they are now enjoying all the pleasures of solitary confinement. They had sawed a bar of metal from a shoe sole. John Pace and John Jackson were the active workers in the plan to escape. Jackson

CAPTAIN CAUGHT.

Too Promiscuous With His Little Pistol.

ARRESTED AT THE WHARF.

Capt. Wm. Kirkpatrick Arrested for Shooting at Watchman Will Cunningham.

GAVE BOND TO ANSWER TUESDAY.

Acting Marshal Frank Harlan and Officer Tube Eiter stood on the wharf boat at 10 o'clock this morning and patiently waited for the big steamer City of Paducah to land. She swung to, there was a hurrying and scurrying of rowers, and soon the ponderous boat was firmly lashed to the landing.

The officers pushed their way through the crowd, over the piles of timber, and up to the cabin. Officer Harlan stood around in the cabin for a few moments and then Major J. H. Ashcraft brought up a portly gentleman with white breeches, a blue vest and long gray beard, and introduced him to the officer as "Capt. Kirkpatrick." A few words were exchanged and the officers left. Half an hour later Capt. Wm. Kirkpatrick appeared at the city hall, accompanied by Major J. H. Ashcraft, to answer to a charge of maliciously shooting at Will Cunningham, night watchman at the St. Bernard coal tipple above the city last Friday night.

It appears that he and the captain had some words about how and where to land the boat, and the Captain went inside after his gun.

Cunningham observed him, and divining his intention sought safety behind a big post, in which the two bullets fired by the irate Captain took effect. Cunningham had a pistol, but made no effort to use it. He swore out the warrant the following day.

Capt. Kirkpatrick desired to have his trial today, but the witnesses could not be found, and it was postponed until next Tuesday when the boat is due going up. Major Ashcraft and the Captain himself signed the bond.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Commonwealth's Attorney.
Sam H. Jones is a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney for the second judicial district composed of the Jackson and Marshall counties at the November election.

The more Cuba is pacified, the greater seem to be the Cuban victories. It might be a good thing if Weyler would admit that the situation is actually serious. His luck then might change.

SENATOR LINDSAY, of Kentucky, says the next national Democratic platform will be a wide departure from the Chicago platform. It will be a full and unreserved endorsement of greenbackism.

SENATOR JONES, of Arkansas, says that to all intents and purposes Mr. Bryan is now nominated for president in 1900. By that time the greenback issue can be fully resurrected, and no one is better fit to lead a forlorn hope than Bryan.

It seems now that it is the poor farmers who are being "intimidated." Last fall the Popocrats assumed that the workingmen were professing friendship for the Republicans because they feared dismissal if they did not, but the election showed there was no foundation for this assertion. Now Mr. Bryan says it is last year's threat of foreclosure that is leading the farmers to pay off their mortgages.

The growth of the protective sentiment in the South, shown by the election of Senator McLaughlin in South Carolina, is no surprise to those who have studied the situation in that section. The New York "Sun," whose editors can scan the political horizon pretty closely, in a recent article, reproduced in another column, points out the growth of Republicanism in that section, and says it is to be an important field for the party in future.

The statistics of the cotton crop for last year show it to have been 8,757,964 bales. It has been sold for about $350,000,000, or some thing more than the total volume of the greenback currency. This is more than five times the value of the annual silver product of the country. What folly is it then for cotton-growers to think that their prosperity depends upon doing something for silver, when all the silver produced in the country would not buy one in five of their cotton bales!—N. Y. World (Dem.)

The Democratic state platform adopted in Pennsylvania in April, 1896, begins with "We are in favor of a firm, unvarying maintenance of the gold standard." Last month the Democratic State convention in Pennsylvania adopted a platform beginning: "We are firmly and unalterably opposed to the single gold standard." Those Democratic papers that think it is treason to change one's opinion, might take the case of the Pennsylvania Democrats in hand.

ABOUT OUR HOPED-FOR "GENERAL."

The Baltimore "Sun," a conservative and intelligent journal, has the following editorial in a late issue which is good enough for reproduction:

"The 'Iron Age,' in an article counseling moderation in the new rush of business and deprecating anything like a boom, incidentally states a fact that is significant. It says:

"Such strong evidences of activity are seen on every hand that the most pessimistic are obliged to acknowledge the complete disappearance of depression, while the hopeful are so elated that they are in danger of being carried off their feet. It is a new experience for wholesale merchants to find their stocks shrinking more in a month than had been expected in three. Manufacturers who sell to the western hardware trade find that their orders are running more than 50 per cent. heavier than last year."

A few months ago Mr. Bryan, in his travels about the country, asked his silverite friends casually when they met him at the railroad stations: "Have you seen the General?" "What General?" they would ask in reply. "General Prosperity," was Mr. Bryan's answer, whereupon there would be silverite laughter. Prosperity promised as the result of defeating free silver had not then arrived and the fun was good. But the "General" has now arrived, it appears, and we have all seen him. The laugh is now on Mr. Bryan.

WE ARE SATISFIED.

The "Register" devotes considerable space to the fact that the manager of the SUN has made an affidavit that the SUN lost seven hundred dollars its first year. If the novice in the "Register" office had made inquiry of any newspaper man of any experience he would have been informed that that was a splendid showing. If he would tell the truth, somewhat of an unknown quantity with him, he would be compelled to say that the "Register's" first year's business came nearer to losing than seven hundred dollars than seven hundred, and that they now have over fifteen thousand invested in a paper that could not be sold for five thousand dollars. He would also say that his former partners in the paper lost considerably over $700 and owned only about one-third interest. Of course this is not the loss of the present manager of the "Register," everybody knows that he had nothing of his own to lose, as his principal occupation before endeavoring to run the free silver wing of the Democratic party, vote for McKinley and bolt Democratic nominees was clerking in a coal office at $10 a month.

The SUN's management is perfectly satisfied with its first year's showing and its directors are more than pleased. It pays its men every Saturday night, and if the "Register" does as much now it won't be long before it will cease to do it.

The record of having $15,000 invested in a business worth less than $5,000; of being afraid to have a policy of any kind; of having an editor and manager ashamed of his vote; of being afraid to tell what his circulation is—the manager of a newspaper with a record like this would better throw up stones.

REPUBLICAN SOUTHERN PROSPECTS.

At no time since the close of the civil war have the prospects of the Republican party in the South been as bright as at the present, after the large defections from the Democratic party to Populism and the increased development of manufactures in the principal states south of Mason and Dixon's line. To the student of American politics it must seem somewhat surprising that Kentucky and Maryland, two Democratic strongholds, should have Republican governors, and that in Tennessee at the last presidential election the Republicans should have polled 45 per cent. of the total vote in the state, while they had 36 per cent. of it in Georgia, 52 per cent. in West Virginia, 46 per cent. in Virginia, and 47 per cent. in North Carolina, besides polling 167,000 votes for McKinley and Hobart in Texas, a state in which the Republican vote in 1880 was only 57,000; in 1888, 88,000; in 1892, 81,000.

The fact is that the Republicans have been increasing rapidly in numbers and influence in all the states of the South, particularly in those on the southern border, with the exception of two, South Carolina and Mississippi, in which, by constitutional provision, there is a large disfranchisement of colored voters. The chief cause of this change is the growth of the Populist party, which is a white man's party, and has withdrawn many voters from the Democratic candidates without getting many recruits from Republican ranks. In no presidential election since the close of the civil war have the Republicans polled so large an electoral vote in the Southern states as they did last year. Mr. McKimley received 12 electoral votes in Kentucky, 8 in Maryland, and 6 in West Virginia, which, with 3 in Delaware, make a total of 29 in what was formerly the solid South. In three states—North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee—the contest between the Democrats and the Populists on the one hand and the Republicans on the other was very close, and the severance of friendly political relations between the Democrats and the Populists in these states makes more probable than heretofore Republican success.—N. Y. Sun (Dem.)

GOOD TIMES ARE COMING.

The good old times are coming from the North and South and West; The orders will be crowding until there isn't any rest. We've only been a-waiting and a-breathing for a spell, But things are sort of settled, and we're feeling pretty well. The people ain't a-going to take to wearing wooden shoes Just because there was a panic and the bankers got the blues. Our country's still as big, and strong, and rich as it can be, And the good old times are coming; just wait and you will see.

The good old times are coming and they're coming mighty soon; The trade winds are a-blowing like a regular monsoon. You can hear the wheels a-turning, and hear the shoe men say They ain't felt so encouraged this many and many a day. Don't listen to the croaker, 'cause his liver's choked with bile; He'd sooner groan in misery than wear a pleasant smile. But join the grand procession and help to swell the song. The good old times are coming and they're coming right along.

ALL A FAKE

About Cherokee Indians Coming to Kentucky.

It Was All a Result of "New Journalism" Enterprising.

The story of the coming invasion of Kentucky by Indians who, it has been published, intended entering Logan county to look for the grave of a great chief, turns out to be a fake, says the Hopkinsville New Era.

A letter of inquiry was addressed to the editor of the "Cherokee Advocate," a paper published by the Cherokee tribe at Tahlequah, the chief city of the Indian Territory. Following is the reply:

"Tahlequah, I. T., Sept. 6.—Editor 'Herald,' Russellville, Ky., Dear Sir: Your letter of recent date inquiring as to the truth of the Cherokee going to Kentucky, received, and will say in reply that the story is as complete a fake as was ever perpetrated on journalists.

"The Parkers mentioned in the dispatch are Conanches and not Cherokees. I am unable to learn if the Cherokees ever had a chief by the name of Wa-ho-ta-nah. It is, however, a Cherokee name.

"If anyone would know about such a scheme I believe I would, as I edit the only paper owned by an Indian tribe and that is the Advocate, owned and published by the Cherokee nation.

"I am a white man and came originally from Mississippi. I mention this because you might think I was an Indian and merely desired to report to deceive the outside world.

"WADDE HEDSON, Editor Cherokee Advocate, and the Tahlequah 'Arrow.'"

The credit of originating this mammoth lie is in dispute, being claimed by both the Cincinnati "Inquirer" and the Louisville "Post," according to the "Herald." The Russellville correspondent of the "Post" and the Cincinnati "Inquirer" claim to have made a scoop on the discovery of "Wa-ho-ta-nah's" grave, and his papers were first to print a picture of undoubted originality. This is one of the greatest performances of the "new journalism" is credited with in Kentucky.

COMMITTEE CHANGES.

Mr. C. M. Leake Succeeds Mr. Ed O. Leigh.

The Democratic Committee meeting, which was in progress as the paper went to press yesterday, resulted in the election of Mr. C. M. Leake as chairman of the Democratic county committee and secretary of the city committee.

Mr. Dick Barber was chosen chairman of the city committee and secretary of the county committee.

Mr. R. T. Lightfoot was chosen a committeeman to succeed Mr. Ed O. Leigh, resigned.

The meeting lasted nearly two hours, despite the statement in the "Register" made with its usual accuracy, that it lasted but a few minutes.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

It will probably be interesting to a portion of the public, at least that part acquainted with the professional people who have appeared here in the parks and stock companies at various times, to learn what some of them are doing this season.

All the people who have attained any degree of popularity in Paducah during the summer season have now secured engagements for the season, and most of them have already taken the road.

The Agnes Carleton-Phillips company, composed of the same people, with but few exceptions, who played all the summer here, is this week playing in Moberly, Mo. Since it left Paducah it has played in Illinois and Missouri to good success.

Miss Lillian O. Bowen, who won considerable popularity the past summer as leading lady at the ill-fated Casino, has signed with Liebler and Miners' "A Secret Enemy." Her tour begins at Boston next week.

Miss Laura Deane, sourette at the same theatre, has for several weeks past been with the Corse-Paxton company.

Miss Nellie McDonough and Mr. Oliver T. Fiske, of the same company, are touring together in vaudeville.

Mr. Harry Driscoll, who was leading man at the Casino, and the most enthusiastic baseball "fan" we had last summer, is with the Arnold-Welch company this week at Atlanta, Ga. this week.

Mr. Paul Fahlbusch, juvenile man, is with a Cincinnati stock company, and expects by the end of the season to be a full fledged "professor."

Mr. Carl H. Carlton, who was manager of La Belle park last year, and left under a cloud, is with the R. E. French company, who was juvenile man at La Belle last year, is with Gordon Lawrence this year in "For Her Sake."

Prof. Herman C. Hiller, who was pianist at La Belle last year, is this year with the Chase-Lister theatre company.

Nelson Compton, who was here the latter part of the season with the La Belle Park company, is now with the Roberts and Martin company.

Mr. E. S. Lawrence, who was also with the La Belle company, is with the "Brand of Cain" company.

That's the nerviest man I ever saw in my life," asserted a young man as he passed a Broadway bicycle house the other day and glanced at a second-hand wheel upon which was pinned a placard bearing the words, "For sale, only $13."

"He never will sell that wheel," continued the speaker, "with such a Jonah to it. Why, I went out here to the races the other day to sell programs, and calculated that I had sold exactly thirteen of them. The fellow who was with me did likewise, and found that he had sold thirteen also; and I never sold another one for over an hour, while he never did sell another one. It was nothing at all but the 13 that did it!"

In this connection, it is said that few of the horse trainers and jockeys, who are all more or less superstitious, can be induced to quarter their horses in stable No. 13 at the new fair grounds, if there is any possible way to get out of it, and the 13th day of the month is always considered unlucky for them all—except the fellow who wins.

A certain popular Broadway merchant got himself into a pretty predicament the other day, and in the presence of a pretty and innocent niece from the country, too. She came in to see him, and he volunteered to take her down and show her how bananas are ripened in a Broadway commission house. It chanced, however, that since the merchant had passed down that way the front part of the commission house had been converted into a more elaborate, gorgeous and pretentious establishment—a bar room. He started in with the tripping maiden on his arm, and she—poor thing!—she didn't know a bar room from a church benevolent society, and of course followed her uncle. When he had gotten well inside the folding doors his niece stepped a few feet back of him, and it dawned on him that he had gotten into the wrong pew, as it were, and, politely declining the bartender's genial invitation to "come in," he rejoined his niece, who asked in astonishment, "Where in the world were you taking me, Uncle?"

He apologized for his blunder, and of course his apology was accepted, company.

A lady of the Palestine section of the county also made a ludicrous mistake a few days ago, which, for want of rain or something funnier to talk about, the neighbors have greatly enjoyed.

She had been expecting her brother from Little Cypress down on a visit.

She is almost totally blind, and about the time she expected her long absent brother to arrive, a buggy drove up, and a man got out. She rushed up to him and would have blindly, both literally and figuratively, thrown herself into his arms, had he not shouted loudly, as he made desperate efforts to escape, that he was not her long lost brother, but had called to see her husband on business.

Day Clerk Chas. Webb, at Hotel Gilbert, has a short stud that attracts more attention than a dozen diamonds. He has never been able to find out what kind of a gem it is, although he has taken it to every jeweler in the city, and this puzzles him exceedingly. The stone is of orange color, but scintillates like a diamond, and at night sparkles with the most iridescent colors. One night a drummer left it at the hotel and went out to take in the town, and has never been heard of since. Local jewelers confess they never saw a gem like it before, and don't know what it is.

There is a paper or two in town, which kicked a prominent lawyer yesterday—and he didn't refer to the Sex—which always try to decide an important case in court before the court itself gets a chance at it. For the sake of creating a sensation or turning the tide of public sentiment against the prisoner, they publish incendiary articles misrepresenting the facts and doing the prisoner a great injustice by intimating that there is danger of his being summarily dealt with should he be acquitted. This is entirely wrong, and a person who doesn't know that the news columns of a paper are not for the expression of individual opinion is a poor newspaper man indeed!

An article similar to the above appeared the other day in a local paper the McGill case, where in the latter was alluded to as a "brutal wife murderer," and in terms equally as uncalled for. Innocent or guilty, McGill has many friends who believe in his innocence as he has those who believe in his guilt, and probably most of the latter gleaned all the information they have on the subject from such articles as those mentioned above.

The ambitious young man on a contemporary who delights to dub the afternoon papers "sleepy" is the same one who was sent to report a school board meeting a few weeks ago and slept throughout the entire is deluded with the belief that we are all like he is.

Two small boys who had read in the newspapers about tramps and burglars were left at home a few evenings ago by their parents. They live on North Fifth street, and were having a good time with two or three neighbor boys about dusk in the back yard when a man slowly loomed up around the corner of the house, and by his stealthy actions came near frightening them out of a year's growth.

He was between them and the house, and there was no hope, to their minds, of reaching this stronghold, and if they sought safety in the alley they might find a half dozen such men there lying in wait for them. Hence they hastily raked up all the bricks and rocks they could find and rushed to the stranger. What they did to him was a plenty, and he let no grass grow under his feet for the next few minutes.

The funny part is that he was their own uncle who had arrived on the afternoon train on a visit to his sister, their mother, and receiving no response when he knocked on the front door, went around the back way to seek admission.

He readily forgave them, but the several bumps and sore places on his anatomy serve as constant reminders that it's sometimes unsafe to go to the back door unless you're certain bricks and rocks are scarce and no small boys are around.

DEPUTY GOT LEFT.

His Prisoner Was Carried Away on the Passenger.

It Is Not Recorded What Became of Either of Them.

An amusing incident occurred at the Union Depot Sunday morning. A bibulous deputy sheriff from Hickman, Ky., was aboard No. 204 en route to Eddyville with a convict who had been taken to Hickman to testify in a case.

The minion of the law was pretty "slozy" by the time he reached the city, and leaving the prisoner in the smoker, handcuffed and shackled, he sallied forth in quest of "refreshments." He had only five minutes, and when he returned with a bottle of whiskey and a bottle of beer he found to his utter dismay that the train had gone, taking the prisoner with it.

He was almost desperate, and attempted to induce Officer Phillips to telephone to the Broadway office and have the train stopped there, but it had gotten to Clark's river by that time. When last seen the doughty deputy was seeking solace from the interior of first one bottle and then the other, and what became of the prisoner "deponent saith not."

Mr. W. C. Turner, advance agent for the Peters & Green Company, here last week, passed through the city today en route from Evansville to Jackson, Tenn., where the show plays next. At Evansville the S. R. O. sign is up.

Mrs. A. N. Clarke and baby returned yesterday from Louisville. Mr. Clarke, who is in charge of Dun's agency here, says it's the finest boy in America—at least it seems so to him.

The Marriage of Big Amusements.
The Great John Robinson and Franklin Bros.' Entertainment Shows (Continued) is an epoch in the annals of amusements, the like of which has never before been known.

About every decade or so a new king of the tented world dawns upon the people. Of the famous personalities associated with the boyhoods of the men of the present day, "Old John Robinson," as he was familiarly termed, has passed away, but his great shows have passed from father to son for three generations. P. T. Barnum is but a memory and Adam Forepaugh's name has even ceased to be carted about the country, except as a circus trademark. The face of the genial Barnum, however, is yet made to beam from the dead walls, although his body rests in the sepulcher, and his executors have disposed of the interest in the show, which was held by his estate.

The public has felt that Barnum and Forepaugh's shows without Barnum and Forepaugh were but hollow pretenses, and if it were not for the fact that the great John Robinson Shows have passed from father to son, it would naturally have cast around for the coming of the new leaders in this time-honored field of amusement.

There is a destiny that shapes all ends, and the men who are to rule the circus world for the coming span of years are at hand. The sun never moved with more certain tread from the grey and early dawn to the fullness of noon, than has been the progress of the Franklin Brothers during the brief past to the present season, where they and John Robinson, a grand-son of the originator of big tented amusements, now stand foremost in tented enterprises, either in this country or abroad.

Four enterprising, honest and sterling men, all with futures full of promise, and each an accomplished gentleman, as well as specially skilled in some branch of the circus business. The "world's" press have been a unit in pronouncing the exhibition foremost in metropolitanism, and the best ever seen. It is hard to pick it out in Paducah and ask a verdict. All big cities are on the route, and sooner or later will be ready to welcome the new blood, enterprising and novelty that are wrapped up in just such a stupendous exhibition as this Napoleonic quartet is said to offer.

LUMP COAL, 80 CASH. NOT COAL, 70 CASH.

During the month of October we will deliver in your coal house the justly celebrated Tradewater Coal at the above prices. To enable us to make the unprecedented low prices we must do away with book-keepers, collectors and bad accounts, three expensive features of the business; and without these we must make the unvarying rule that the cash must accompany each order, or be paid to the driver on delivery of coal. This is the best coal mined in Kentucky, and we guarantee each and every load sent out by us.

To the Public:

Many of our customers have asked the question, "Why don't you move on Broadway, as you have as nice and as large a stock as anybody?" Now we must answer the question. A store on Broadway means a finer store—higher rent, finer fixtures, more clerks, more lights, etc. This all means more profit, and you have to pay for it.

Here are some Court street prices:

Ladies' fine dress kid shoes, Broadway price, $2.50 to $3.50—our price, $2.00.
Ladies' nice everyday shoes, 75c and $1.00.
Boys' school shoes, Broadway price, $1.50—our price, $1.00.

LARGEST KNOWN.
Is the Public School Enrollment This Year.
1420 White and 630 Colored Started in Yesterday.—Total 2050.
The total enrollment of yesterday, the opening day of the public schools, was much greater than anticipated, being 1420 white and 630 colored, a total of 2050 pupils, which is 184 more than were enrolled last year on the first day.
Today there have been new arrivals, but they have not yet been classified. Supt. McBroom did not expect more than 1950 or 2000 at the most.
There are now two more pupils at the high school at the start than there were during the whole of last year.

TWO BAD ACCIDENTS
Narrow Escape of Foreman Abernathy Today.
Three Ribs Broken.—John Dunlap Also Badly Hurt.
City Foreman, J. S. Abernathy, of the sewerage force, had a narrow escape from being killed by the rescuing machine at Third and Harrison streets, where the sewers are being laid, this forenoon.
He was struck by a "bucket" of the machine, and terribly bruised. It seems that the "trigger" failed to catch, and the bucket fell several feet.
Mr. Abernathy, in addition to having numerous bruises, sustained fractures of three ribs. He was taken to his room at Hotel Gilberto, where Dr. Boyd was called to attend him.
Mr. Abernathy's home is in Memphis, and he came here at the instance of Sanitary Engineer Wilcox, and is under City Engineer Wilcox.

John Dunlap, who is employed in the sewerage works, fell into one of the trenches this morning, and was injured internally, as well as badly bruised up. He lives on West Trimble.

Maccabees Attention.
Griffin Tent No. 47, Maccabees, will meet at 4 o'clock tomorrow at the residence of the late Mr. C. J. Croal, to attend the funeral in a body. By order of commander.

All roads these days lead to St. Petersburg. For a dozen years during the reign of Alexander I. Russia had a greater weight in European councils than any other nation. Then for a time during Metternich's days the center of political gravity shifted to Austria. It went back to the Russia of Nicholas I. during the second quarter of the century, then successively passed to France in the time of Napoleon III., to Germany in the early days of the present empire, to England in the latter part of Beaconsfield's career, and now it has transferred itself to Russia again. Nicholas II. is an exceedingly big figure in the Old World's politics.
